

Sister B.K.Jayanti:

Director of the London Branch of the Brahma Kumaris World Spiritual University and its NGO Representative to the United Nations, Geneva.:

For over 35 years, Sister Jayanti has travelled widely as a Speaker, broadcaster and emissary for peace. She has co-ordinated several projects in connection with Women, Development, the Environment and Youth.

She is an Advisor to the Council for a Parliament of the World's Religions and Advisory Committee Member of the international Interfaith Centre.

Sister Jayanti is European Co-ordinator for the Brahma Kumaris World Spiritual University and assists in co-ordinating the University's activities in 130 countries. Her work involves spiritual counseling, teaching and translating. Sister Jayanti has a unique ability to impart deep spiritual truths with the utmost clarity. Her prominent lecture themes have included health, education, racial harmony, women's needs, religions of the world, peace and international relations, all of which have generated a lot of media interest.

Sister Jayanti sees the erosion of spiritual values at the heart of the underlying cause of the crisis that the world is facing today. She has worked tirelessly to promote positive, human, spiritual values to all sectors of society. In 1980, she was appointed the University's main representative to the UN in Geneva. This has led her to participate in many UN Conferences.

Her travels as a keenly sought after speaker and broadcaster have taken her into over 80 countries. She helped establish the work of the university in London, Hong Kong, the Caribbean, Japan and several European countries and continues to help in the sustenance of Centres all over the world.
